

Golder to Acquire Texas-Based Pastor, Behling & Wheeler

May 7, 2018

PALM BEACH, FLORIDA — Golder, a leading global engineering and consulting company, is pleased to announce that it has entered into a definitive purchase agreement to acquire Pastor, Behling & Wheeler, LLC (PBW), a Texas-based environmental engineering and consulting firm.

Headquartered in Round Rock TX, with five offices throughout the state, PBW provides a broad range of specialized environmental engineering and consulting services for clients in Texas and throughout the United States.

“This acquisition is aligned with our strategy to expand our geographic footprint and resources in key markets in the US and is highly complementary to our existing resources in Texas,” said Dr. Hisham Mahmoud, Golder’s Global President & CEO. “We have enjoyed a successful teaming and collaborative relationship working with PBW’s leadership and people over the years, making PBW a natural fit.”

“We at PBW are very excited to be joining Golder,” said Eric Pastor, President of PBW. “We have had the privilege of working with Golder on projects over the years and, through those projects, our teams have built a strong relationship based on mutual respect, a commitment to excellence, and alignment of cultures.”

PBW’s core services include site investigation, remediation, and closure; environmental compliance and permitting support; and environmental engineering design.

The acquisition is expected to close by the end of May 2018.

EFCG initiated and advised Pastor, Behling & Wheeler in the transaction.
